FOUNDER

FOUNDER STORY

Ziki's was founded by Alyssa Gosselin, whose approach to food is grounded in movement, meal preparation, and ongoing dietary research. She creates fresh, nourishing power food with the discipline of an athlete and the warmth of a host. Her curated pop-ups bring that point of view to local businesses and gatherings throughout San Diego.

BRAND POSITION

Modern Greek street food with a sunny San Diego point of view. Generous, fresh, confident, and polished - never fussy or overly traditional.

LOGO GUIDANCE

Use the supplied white-on-black web lockup on quiet backgrounds.

Keep generous clear space. Do not stretch, outline, shadow, recolor, or place the logo over busy photography.

Production note: the current supplied logo is web resolution. A vector master is the next recommended brand asset.

Warm. Direct. Lightly playful.

Copy should be short, sensory, and confident. Lead with flavor and hospitality. Avoid wellness cliches, guilt-based language, or generic claims that are not backed by a concrete proof point.

APPROVED SHORT BOILERPLATE

Ziki's Greek Street Eats brings fresh, generous Greek food to pop-ups, local businesses, and private gatherings throughout San Diego. Founded by Alyssa Gosselin, Ziki's pairs craveable classics with organic ingredients, a no-seed-oils standard, and warm, personal hospitality.

Food first. Sunlight always.

Favor late-afternoon natural light, warm stone or linen, cobalt ceramics, crisp produce, visible herbs, and lively texture. Food should look real, abundant, and freshly assembled.
